OnDemand Residency Services

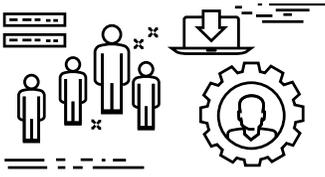

We help clients assess business and technology needs, and provide the talent to ensure success.

Providing IT Talent to Reach Your Goals

The demand for highly skilled technical professionals just keeps growing, forcing you to compete for the IT talent you need to reach your business and technology goals. And there are times when you need a specialist to implement a new technology or to overcome a challenge that keeps your company from growing. Where do you turn for highly qualified technical expertise when you need it? Think OnX.

OnX OnDemand Residency Services deploys highly vetted, trained and certified IT specialists backed by our experienced team of technology professionals. We provide quick access to people with the advanced skills needed to step right in and take control of demanding technical projects and environments. As a technology company, we understand what our clients are trying to do from a technical perspective, and we know what it takes to ensure that each engagement succeeds.

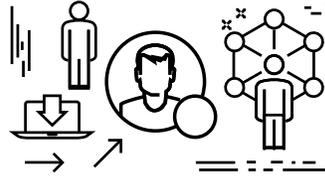

Clients value the quality of our specialists and that we actively manage every engagement, setting our OnDemand Residency Services apart from a traditional staffing company approach.

Solving Your IT Professional Resource Challenges

Clients turn to OnX not only for the expertise we bring to each OnDemand Residency engagement, but also for our ability to align solutions and services from multiple hardware and software vendors to reach specific goals. As one of the largest enterprise technology providers in North America and Europe, we have invested in achieving the highest level of manufacturer and technology certifications. We understand the skills required from our OnDemand Residency specialists, and take pride in our ability to identify, recruit and retain the subject matter experts who can make a difference for our clients.

Our manufacturer-neutral approach ensures that our OnDemand Residency team delivers the right solutions the first time. We bring the bandwidth and specialized skills to help you realize your vision and achieve results.

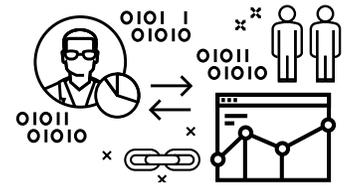

OnDemand Residency Services helps you tackle everyday IT resource challenges:

Subject matter experts providing:

- > Insight on new technologies when in-house knowledge is lacking
- > Advanced thought leadership on strategic projects
- > Support for technologies that don't require full-time staff
- > Project- or initiative-specific IT expertise

We also help you:

- > Augment in-house capabilities and capacity
- > Bring in specialized staff when full-time hiring restrictions in effect
- > Bridge full-time vacancies
- > Avoid less skilled staffing agencies
- > Provide an alternative to high priced OEM consulting services

Why OnX?

As one of the top technology providers in the U.S. and Canada, OnX ensures you work with experts who have the experience and proven success record that will make the difference when addressing your distinct needs. Our OnDemand Residency specialists are the subject matter experts you bring in to add bandwidth and specialized skills to help you realize your vision and achieve results.
